1. Introduction

The following work brings together the Ichenhausen Jewish families information from the late 18th century to the mid-19th century. The information is based on the main data base:

- The Matrikel list 1813 [Ref 1.]
- Jewish house ownership Ichnhausen 1836 [Ref 2.]
- The list of families for the seats in the synagogue 1843 [Ref 3.]
- The Jewish BMD (B-born 1784-1889, M-Marriage 1824-1921, D-Dath 1823-1896) records [Ref 4.].

The information was compiled into a detailed family list that includes the: name of the family, names of the parents, their year of birth and death and details of the parents' parents if information is found. a small portion of the information has also been completed from additional sources.

At the end of the 18th century, and especially in 1813, Jews were required to register with a surname, So, where there was no old family name, the "old name" in Matrikel of 1813 assum as the father's name, as it was pronounced in a Jewish and traditional manner.

2. History

2.1. Ichenhausen Jewish Summary (Ref 5.)

Around the middle of the 16th century, the first Jews settled in Ichenhausen. Expelled from the imperial cities and larger areas, they found refuge in Ichenhausen, which was subject to the Marquis of Burgau, part of Upper Austria, in exchange for paying special taxes and levies, and founded one of the largest Jewish communities in southern Germany.

Until the 19th century, the residence and trade rights of Jews in German territories were regulated by purchased letters of protection. They were usually granted to individuals by the relevant king. In 1717, the Jews in Ichenhausen also received such a letter of protection, also known as the "Burgauer Rezess". The letter, issued in 1717, replaced all letters of protection issued to Jews up to that point and confirmed the rights of the Jews. The provisions include the right of permanent residence and inheritance. Limited, however, to the 35 houses already in Jewish ownership, free trade and religious practices, the sovereignty of the Jewish jurisdiction. The taxes imposed on Jews and the amount of the protection fee were also regulated.

The Austrian military man and cartographer Johann Lambert Kolfel drew the first map of Ichenhausen around 1750, along with 522 other villages in the Marquis of Burgau. The 40 Jewish-owned houses where the Jewish population of Ichenhausen lived around 1750 were marked in color.

A Matrikel is a list of the fixed number of Jewish households in a place. In principle, a new person could only be registered under a registration number if the previous person had died or moved away. When the Margraviate of Burgau was annexed to Bavaria in 1805, the legal status of Jews was re-regulated. While Jews had not been tolerated in the Electorate of Bavaria, in 1806 around 40,000 Jews lived in the new Bavaria, 6,000 of them in Swabia. The edict of June 10, 1813, on the "Conditions of Jewish Co-Religionists in the Kingdom of Bavaria" created new regulations for all of Bavaria. Even though these regulations brought citizenship and freedom of trade, they continued to restrict immigration and freedom of movement. The autonomy of Jewish communities in internal Jewish and educational matters was abolished, and religious independence was restricted. Jews were required to register in a register, which stipulated the number of families per place of residence. Based on the Jewish Edict of 1813, 200 registration numbers were assigned for Ichenhausen, allowing a total of 200 Jewish households. For Ichenhausen's Jews, the annexation to Bavaria did not bring much improvement; until 1848, the obligation to pay taxes to the local aristocratic rulers continued. However, the residential area restrictions were lifted; Jews were now also allowed to buy houses in the Inner Market. Around 1830, there were 217 Jewish households in Ichenhausen, comprising approximately 1,300 people. At that time, they made up almost half of the town's population. At that time, Ichenhausen was the second-largest Jewish community in Bavaria after Fürth, only surpassed by Munich in 1840.

In the Ichenhausen land register of July 9, 1567, 13 Jews are listed by name: 1. Abraham, 2. Thefele, 3. Scholumb, 4. Huenle (Jewish mother), 5. Salomon, 6. Michel's daughter-in-law, 7. Abraham, 8. Mayer, 9. Schmuel, 10. Seckle, 11. Michel, 12. Gütle (Jewess), 13. Isaac (the Younger).

1574

In the Ichenhausen land register of April 6, 1574, 16 Jewish families are listed: 1. Michel's daughter-in-law, 2. Henle (Jewish dwelling, if occupied by a Christian), 3. Schmiel, 4. Lienhart, 5. and 6. Scholem and his brother, 7. Sallma, 8. Itzig, 9. Mossi, 10. and 11. Abraham (from Bach) and Tochtermann (Son-in-law), 12. Mayer, 13. Schmuel, 14. Itzig (in the Ostergassen), 15. Levy, 16. Adel (a Jewess).

1598

In 1598, Emperor Rudolf II issued a charter of freedom against Jews in the Margraviate of Burgau, In Ichenhausen the Jews: Noe, Sarson, Schimel, and Jakob.

1648

After the Thirty Years' War (1618–1648), the Jewish community began to grow in Ichenhausen. When the market was divided after the war, the two estate owners decided: each of the two owners of Ichenhausen would establish four Jewish houses and receive four Jewish families (8 Jewish houses in total Beyond the Jewish houses on Jewish Street outside the town gates), but would not have the authority to exceed this number.

1670

From 1670 onwards, an extremely strong immigration began. While at that time 150 Jews were counted here

1673

Around the middle of the 17th century, only a few of the local Jews had their own family names. Abraham Einstein and Salomon Dreifuss are mentioned (1673). In their house, a fire broke out as a result of a sleeper burning through.

1680

In 1680, with the permission of the lord, the Jewish bought 5 houses in a short period of time

1700

Then names derived from place names are frequently encountered: Neuburger, Gundelfinger, Heilbronner, Laupheimer, Burgauer, (1700). Other names from ancient times are Gerstle (probably coming from Härben), Hirsch Uhlmann, Bernheim, Seligmann (probably coming from Thannhausen).

1710

For each Jew admitted here, a separate letter of admission, called a letter of protection, was issued, on November 5, 1710 letter of protection issued to Isaac Burgauer

1717

9 Nov 1717 the Lords permit the Ichenhausen Jewry to retain the 35 houses they currently possess and may not be expelled from them

1730

1730 the Jewish number was around 700, they owned 17 houses

1740

in 1740, instead of the original 35 houses, 39 houses were counted, since new houses were not to be acquired or built despite the growing Jewish population (120 families). So, "outbuildings and outbuildings" were added to the old houses, thereby gaining as much space as was required for new houses.

1754

among others, the requests for concessions from two protected Jews of Baron von Stain zu Ichenhausen: Abraham Gundelfinger and Abraham Einstein (1745) (A 212 Bü 412, /1-/139.) 1748 November 29 Circular rescript issued regarding the assignment of debt claims between Christians and Jews (A 212 Bü 413.) 1752-1784 Documents concerning the trade of subjects with Jews, especially from abroad.

6. The Transcription of Jewish Places in the synagogue 1843 - Ref 3

This is a transcription of a list, dated about 1843, of the Jewish families places in the synagogue of Ichenhausen. It was compiled as part of the planned enlargement of the synagogue in order to assess the amount of seating needed. Adam Yamey (link) transcribed this material from a poor photocopy sent to me by F Trout who received it from Moritz Schmid the former Mayor of Ichenhausen. Where unable to make sense of a letter used square brackets, e.g. [?H].
